SIDNEY GERALD ABEL - Center.

Born - Melville, Saskatchewan, February 22, 1918. Height 5'11". Weight 185 lbs.

Durable Sid is returning to his first full season of post war hockey this year faced with the dual problem of converting himself from left wing to center, and overcoming an illness which spoiled his comeback last February.

As Captain and left wing of the 1942-43 Wing team Abel was a regular on the last Detroit club to win the Stanley Cup. He entered the Royal Canadian Air Force at the close of the season, April, 1943, and remained in active service until his discharge in early February.

Returning to the Red Wings Sid was rewarded with the club captaincy, and fitting in with Manager Jack Adams' plans, began his conversion to a center-ice post, only to be laid low by a malignant infection resulting from diseased tonsils.

During the summer he had the offending organs removed, and his play in the team's pre-season games proves that he is ready to resume his place as one of the league's top forwards.

Abel has played all of his professional hockey with the Detroit organization, having turned pro in the fall of 1938, when he was farmed out to Pittsburgh. That season, and the one following, he divided between the Red Wings and their American League affiliate, but from 1940 on he was a regular major leaguer. Sid was named left wing on the second All-Star team of 1942-43.

Married to Gloria Morandy, whom he met when she was employed as Jack Adams' secretary, Sid makes his permanent home in Detroit. They have one son, Gerald. In the off-season Sid plays considerable softball. Among hockey players he is nicknamed "Boot Nose" for obvious reasons.

ADAM BROWN - Left Wing.

Born - Johnstone, Scotland, February 4, 1920. Height 5'9". Weight 175 lbs.

Fleetest of the Red Wings is left wing Adam Brown, the Hamilton Scot. Noted as an offensive forward who is devastating around the enemy goal, Brown led the Detroit club in goal production in 1945-46, bagging 20 markers. He also held the distinction of being the only Detroiter to perform the hat trick, netting the puck three times in the season's opening game against Boston.

Brown is a typical Detroit player in that his entire professional career has been spent in the Wing organization. He started with Omaha, of the old American Association, in 1940, climbed to Indianapolis the following fall, and by mid-season was with the Wings.

He returned to Indianapolis in 1942 and led the club in scoring, being summoned to Detroit for the Stanley Club Playoffs. He distinguished himself as a substitute for Syd Howe by scoring the overtime goal which eliminated Toronto in the first round series and sent the Wings on to Boston and the Cup.

In 1943 he was established as a Red Wing regular, entered the Canadian Army at the close of the season. Out of hockey for year, he was discharged in August, 1945, and returned to Detroit last season.

Married, and with two children, Brown makes his home in Hamilton, Ontario. He is employed by the Canadian Steel Car Company in the off-season, and spends his free hours playing golf and softball. He manages a ball club which toured lower Ontario on week-ends with considerable success.

Adam glories in Scottish ancestry and is the first one on the club to discover a new Scotch joke. He is a shrewd card player, gregarious off the ice, and is much in demand as a dinner speaker and a subject for radio interviews.

EDWARD BRUNETEAU - Right Wing.

Born - Saint Boniface, Manitoba. August 1, 1919. Height 5'9". Weight 175 lbs.

Younger of the Bruneteau brothers who have been in the Red Wing lineup since 1935, Eddie is rapidly developing into one of the best slap-shot artists in the National League.

Like so many of his teammates Eddie is a pure product of the Detroit organization. He started with Omaha in 1939, moved to Indianapolis and Detroit the following year. Two years followed in which Eddie was busy as a ship builder in Eastern Canada and out of hockey entirely, while in 1943 he played two games with the Red Wings when they visited Montreal.

He returned to professional hockey in December, 1944, when he was able to obtain a work release, and took up a regular right wing berth with Detroit.

Fast and tireless his shooting which was hard but inaccurate has steadily improved and his value as a defensive forward is often overlooked by his opponents.

Bruneteau is married and makes his permanent home in Riverside, Ontario, a suburb of Windsor. Noted as a baseball player he has spent the past two summers as a right fielder on one of the stronger provincial nines.

Born - Toronto, Ontario. October 5, 1916. Height 6'1". Weight 175 lbs.

When the Red Wings obtained Roy, the youngest of the three famous Conacher brothers in a trade in August, 1946, they became the first club in the National League to have the services of two of this noted hockey trio, for Charlie spent a season in Detroit in 1938-39.

Roy had established himself as a great goal scorer in his own right in four seasons with the Boston Bruins, before entering the Canadian Service, having been credited with 92 goals in that period.

He returned to the professional hockey field in February, 1946, following his discharge, but played only a scattered few games with the Bruins. His condition being somewhat of a question he was traded for Joe Carveth at the conclusion of the season, but observers who have watched his work on the Wings' number one offensive line at the training camp agree that he has lost none of his goal scoring mastery.

Extremely quiet and modest Conacher prefers to let his stick speak for him. Married and with one child, he makes his home in his native Toronto in the off-season. Roy should be the next member of the Red Wings to pass the century mark in goal production.

Graduating from senior hockey, Conacher has played his entire professional career in the National League.

LLOYD GEORGE DORAN - Center

Born - South Porcupine, Ontario. January 10, 1921. Height 6'. Weight 175 lbs.

When lanky "Red" Doran was called up to the Red Wings from their Indianapolis farm club on the last day of November, a newspaperman inquired why all Dorans who break into hockey are nicknamed "Red". One look at the carrot-topping and fiery play of this recruit should provide the answer.

A brother of Bazel Doran, former minor league star, Lloyd came into the Detroit camp in the fall of 1941. His aggressive play at left wing won him a professional contract with the Omaha Knights of the American Association. While in the Nebraska metropolis he was converted to a center, a respect to his forechecking and playmaking ability.

He scored six goals and 18 assists for the Knights, as they won the league championship, but left hockey at the close of the season to enter the Canadian Army. Definitely in Detroit's future book, his service career was watched with interest until his discharge last Spring.

Returning to hockey this fall, he was sent to Indianapolis, and was leading the Capitals in scoring when he was promoted to the Red Wings, for whom he netted two goals in his first four games.

Doran is married and has one child. He makes his home in South Porcupine.

RENE FERNAND GAUTHIER - Right Wing.

Born - Chicoutimi, Quebec. August 31, 1918. Height 5'10". Weight 175 lbs.

Gauthier came to the Wings last season as something of an afterthought, but a happy one for Detroit. During the off-season Montreal had traded Ray Getliffe and Roland Rossignol to the Wings for Bill Reay, but Getliffe retired from hockey, and Gauthier was substituted.

He started slowly and suffered an ankle injury early in the season. He was shipped to Indianapolis to skate into shape and recalled to the major leagues in January. Fern celebrated his return by shooting two goals on his first appearance to defeat New York.

A possessor of one of the finest collections of pipes in professional hockey, Fern is married. In the summer he serves as a fishing guide at Lake St. John, Quebec.

Gauthier has traveled considerably in his hockey career. He started with the old Washington Ulines of the American League on loan from Canadiens, moved to Rangers, still on loan from Montreal, spent a year with Canadiens, and came to Detroit in 1945.

PETER HORECK - Left Wing

Born - Massey, Ontario. June 15, 1923. Height 5'8". Weight 158 lbs.

Newest of the Red Wings is speedy Pete Horeck, who was secured from the Chicago Black Hawks in trade for Adam Brown, December 9, 1946. Sought primarily for his speed and aggressive checking, Horeck's goal scoring ability has not been overlooked, for he has netted the puck an even 20 times in each of his two seasons of National League play.

What makes his scoring more valuable is the fact that the bulk of the time he has been used on the second and third line, and the fact that in a pinch he has shown the ability to shift onto right wing, although a left hand shot.

Pete started his professional hockey career with the Cleveland Barons in 1942, dividing his time between Al Sutphin's club and the Providence Reds on loan. He registered 45 points, 25 of them being goals, and was a regular Baron the following fall, ringing up 34 goals and 29 assists.

He was purchased by the Black Hawks at the start of the 1944-45 campaign and has served as regular forward since that time. He is a younger brother of Johnny Horeck, one-time Michigan-Ontario League player, who has performed in the minor leagues for several seasons.

GORDON HOWE - Right Wing.

Born - Floral, Saskatchewan. May 31, 1928. Height 5'11½". Weight 185 lbs.

Baby of the current Red Wing team is 18 year old Gordon Howe, who has made the jump from junior hockey to the National League in the short space of two seasons.

Howe has already been lauded as one of the finest right wing prospects in 20 years, and the youngster's showing in his single professional season, with Omaha, of the United States league, has borne out this prophecy.

At the start of the current training camp Howe appeared destined to advance from Omaha to Indianapolis, but his sturdy play in the pre-season games won his advancement right into the National League.

Howe is a rugged youngster, not afraid to hand out a body-check. He is so natural in his movements on the ice that his effortlessness often makes him appear slow.

Quiet and somewhat shy appearing, he is a raging terror on the ice, and as his Coach Tom Ivan discovered last season, is no respecter of persons. In a team scrimmage Howe and Ivan collided at the boards and the Manager came off with a gash requiring four stitches to close.

Gordon started with the Red Wing organization in 1944, being sent to the Wing-sponsored O. H. A. junior team at Galt, Ontario. However his transfer was not approved, and Howe's only appearances were in non-league games. With a year's literal layoff he distinguished himself last fall by figuring in three of Detroit's five goals in their opening exhibition game against Cleveland.

Unmarried, Gordon summers with his family in Saskatoon. So modest is he that he refuses to question points which he feels he has earned but which may erroneously be credited to other players.

HAROLD RUSSELL JACKSON - Right Defense.

Born - Cedar Springs, Ontario. January 8, 1918. Height 6'. Weight 190 lbs.

Few defense men in the National League are more difficult to evaluate than Hal. One night he rises to great heights, the next he borders on mediocrity. Yet through it all he is a good journeyman rear guard whose ability to stay in the major league in post war competition has been proven.

Too, Hal is an excellent team man. Full of youthful good humor, he is honest about mistakes, never stops trying, and has never been known to criticize a teammate.

Jackson has been in the Detroit organization since 1940, when he was secured from Providence in a trade for Eddie Bush, and placed with the Wings' Indianapolis farm club. Originally a forward who broke into hockey with Chicago, Jackson was converted to the defense at Providence.

He became a regular Red Wing at the start of the 1943 season and has not been out of the lineup, barring games missed because of injury since then.

Windsor, just across the river from Detroit is his home. He is employed by the Ford Motor Company of Canada as Athletic Director of their Windsor plant. Hal is married and has one son.

Baseball is his off-season interest and he once refused a try out offer from the Philadelphia Athletics. He plays for various Essex County teams during the summer as a pitcher and outfielder.

ANTHONY LICARI - Right Wing

Born - Ottawa, Ontario. April 9, 1921. Height 5'7". Weight 147 lbs.

Smallest of the Red Wings is right winger Tony Licari, who was promoted from the Indianapolis Capitals to the major leagues, November 30, 1946. Licari was moved up at the recommendation of Capital Coach Tommy Ivan, who has been his mentor for some years.

Licari first attracted attention with the Guelph Biltmores, in 1940-41, a junior club which Ivan coached. The Biltmores visited Detroit for an exhibition game and Licari's speed and aggressiveness made him worth watching.

The following fall he was invited to the Red Wing training camp and signed to a professional contract. He was lent to the Dallas club of the American Association and compiled a favorable first year record of 15 goals and 13 assists.

Tony then entered the Royal Canadian Air Force, and was assigned to Ottawa for training. He won a regular berth on the strong Ottawa R. C. A. F. team which won the Canadian Senior Amateur Championship (the Allen Cup) that year. Assigned to overseas duty, Licari had the opportunity to play some hockey abroad, and was very impressive to Johnny Mowers.

Discharged, he returned to hockey this fall. Originally slated to be assigned to Omaha for seasoning, he battled his way to the Indianapolis lineup, and from there to the Wings.

He makes his permanent home in Ottawa and is unmarried.

Born - Renfrew, Ontario. July 29, 1925. Height 5'8". Weight 165 lbs.

A veteran with three seasons of National League play at 21 years of age is the enviable record of young Ted Lindsay, who made the jump from St. Michaels juniors to the Red Wings in 1944.

Ted showed himself to be a courageous, hustling youngster from the first day he appeared in the Detroit training camp. In his first second he ranked third in the voting for the Calder Trophy, the league's rookie award.

Lindsay's defensive skill soon showed itself and he is rated as one of the best checking left wings in the game. He is Manager Adams' first choice to guard the left side when the Wings are penalized.

This fall, following a nasal operation which was performed during the summer, Ted has displayed new speed and a hitherto unsuspected goal scoring ability, having dented the twine at least once in each exhibition game.

Deeply interested in the game, Ted keeps a young outlook. He devoted his spare time last season to coaching a Windsor junior team.

Kirkland Lake, the gold mining center, is now Lindsay's summer home. He and Angus Mortson, Toronto recruit, established a small claim this year. Ted is unmarried and lives with his family. His father, Bert Lindsay, was a star goal-tender at Renfrew andin Western Canada in the early days of professional hockey.

HARRY LUMLEY - Goal.

Born - Owen Sound, Ontario. November 11, 1926. Height 6', Weight 195 lbs.

A National League veteran at 19 years of age, Lumley has won the regular goaling spot for the Wings at least temporarily. The big Owen Sound youngster joined the Detroit club in March, 1943, as a practice goaler when the club was in the throes of its successful battle for the Stanley Cup.

Although he didn't break into the lineup that spring Harry amassed enough major league knowledge to win the net minding job at Indianapolis the next fall hands down. When the Wings were having goal-tending difficulties in December Harry was called to the major league for two games but was found inexperienced and returned to the Capitals.

In 1944 he was again sent to Indianapolis, but before Christmas had been installed in the nets, the youngest goalie in the history of the N. H. L., and since that date has never been out of the lineup.

Harry has shown a growing maturity and steadiness this season, which with his size and speed makes him one of the finest goalers in the circuit. Possessed of big hands and strong muscles, the result of early summers spent as a fireman in the hold of a Great Lakes freighter, he is steadily improving with his majority not yet in sight.

Lumley summers at his family home in Owen Sound, playing lacrosse to keep in shape. He is unmarried.

DOUGLAS McCAIG - Right Defense

Born - Guelph, Ontario. February 24, 1919. Height 6'. Weight 200 lbs.

Returning for his third trial with the Red Wings is Doug McCaig. The hard-hitting, handsome rear guardsman has drawn the nickname of "Captain Crash" with the Indianapolis hockey fans because of his bone crushing body checks.

Doug first attracted attention with Holzbaugh in the now defunct Michigan-Ontario Hockey League in 1939. He was a member of the club which that season won the Senior Amateur Championship of the United States. Returning to Holzbaugh the following season he was signed to a professional contract in mid-season and sent to Indianapolis.

The following fall (1941) he began the year with the Red Wings, but was soon farmed out to the Capitals for further seasoning. Three years in the Royal Canadian Air Force followed, during which period McCaig spent the majority of his time as a pilot flying coastal patrol.

Discharged, Doug was back in hockey a year ago. He was lent to St. Louis at the start of the season, moved to the Red Wings briefly in mid-year, and finally finished with Indianapolis. This season he was again assigned to the Capitals, where Tommy Ivan soon readied him for major league play. From all appearances he is making no mistake about staying with the Wings on this occasion.

McCaig now makes his summer home in Brantford. He is not married.

Born - Edmonton, Alberta. April 3, 1921. Height 5'9". Weight 202 lbs.

A newcomer to National League defense circles is stocky Hugh Millar (pronounced Miller), who has worked his way through the ranks of the Detroit hockey organization to a place with the Red Wings.

Hugh turned professional in 1941 and was farmed out to Omaha, being a defensive standout on the Knight's championship club that season. He entered the Canadian Navy at the close of that season and remained in Service until discharged in mid-summer, 1945.

Returning to hockey Hugh was placed on the Indianapolis club, where he was rated as the team's number one defense man until forced to the sidelines by a knee injury.

During the off-season he manages the Rockwood Hotel at Stonewall, Alberta. He is married.has no children, and is a better than average golfer.

JOHN THOMAS MOWERS - Goal.

Born - Montreal, Quebec. February 27, 1916. Height 5'11". Weight 185 lbs.

Returning from three years in the Royal Canadian Air Force to take up the battle for a major league goal-tending berth is Johnny Mowers. Mowers went to war in April, 1943, after having won the Vezina Trophy, tended goal for the Stanley Cup winning Red Wings, and left big league hockey with an unended streak of two consecutive shutouts.

John first attracted attention in 1939. Always a courageous goaler he came to the Wing camp for a trial and was placed with the Pontiac Chiefs of the now inactive Michigan-Ontario Hockey League. The club was inept and was an odds-on favorite to lose each time they took the ice. But Mowers' skill and spirit had won the eye of the Wing executives, and when a new goalie was needed at their Omaha farm in mid-season Johnnie was offered the chance to turn pro.

The following season the Wing goaling job was open, and Mowers did not hesitate in seizing the opportunity to win a major league berth. Installed in the National League Johnny became a star in one year, finishing second in the Calder Cup voting, and missing the Vezina Trophy by a bare three goals to Toronto's Walter Broda.

For three seasons Mowers remained as the number one Detroit goaler, and beyond a single game when an attack of influenza sidelined him, was never out of the lineup.

He reached his greatest heights in 1942-43 when he became the league leading goaler on a world championship club, and climaxed his work by shutting out the Boston Bruins on their own ice in the last two games of the final playoff round.

Off the ice John is a friendly fellow, a good talker, and extremely popular. He is married and makes his home in Niagara Falls, Ontario. An adept card player he is one of hockey's best bridge and cribbage players.

In service John spent over a year in Europe, and played considerable hockey in England and Switzerland.

HUBERT GEORGE QUACKENBUSH - Right Defense.

Born - Toronto, Ontario, March 2, 1922. Height 5'11", Weight 175 lbs.

Regarded in Detroit as one of the top National League defense men is "Bill", now starting his fourth regular season with the Red Wings.

An unspectacular player who is probably the least-penalized regular rear guard in the league, Quack has already proven his ability as a puck carrier and goal shot as well as defensive player.

Tommy Ivan, Indianapolis Coach, brought Bill from his (Ivan's) junior team in Brantford in 1942, and the blond haired youngster won himself a place on the Red Wing club itself in a single jump, only to suffer a fractured wrist early in the season. When the injured member healed Bill was farmed to Indianapolis for the remainder of the year.

The following fall he returned to the Wings and was tried out as a center, but his natural defensive ability reasserted itself, and he was soon back at the blue line.

Because of his quiet nature, both on and off the ice, and his lack of showmanship, he is more appreciated by opponents and his teammates than by game observers.

Unmarried, Bill plays softball for a strong Toronto team in the off-season.

CLIFFORD VERNON SIMPSON - Center.

Born - Toronto, Ontario. April 4, 1923. Height 5'10". Weight 175 lbs.

Billed for a utility spot with the Red Wings this season, and aptly qualified for the assignment is baby-faced Cliff Simpson. Cliff spent a partial season at Indianapolis before entering the Canadian Navy, and returned to hockey shortly after the opening of the 1945-46 hockey year.

Assighed again to the Capitals he displayed amazing versatility. Although a left hand shot he fitted in on right wing when Steve Wochy was hurt, dropped back on defense when Hugh Millar suffered a knee injury, and finally dropped into his regular center-ice spot.

A shifty type of player who is far more durable than he appears, he gained recognition as the Cowley type of playmaker and when the league rules were altered to permit the dressing of a sixteenth player this fall Cliff fitted into the slot as a natural.

He is married, makes his home in Toronto, where he plays softball during the summer to condition himself. As a cribbage player he has no equal on the Wing squad.

Born Pilot Mound, Manitoba. May 6, 1917. Height 5'10½". Weight 180 lbs.

Regarded as one of the hardest body-checkers in the league Stewart will be a late starter this season. He was permitted to report to training camp late because of the need for him as a worker on his father's large Manitoba wheat farm. When Stewart did report he was on skates but twice when he was hospitalized with a throat infection. As a result Jack will be somewhat behind the remainder of the club but it is expected that he will soon make his presence felt.

Stewart reached his heights on the 1942-43 club which won the Stanley Cup, being named to the All-Star Team. Entering the Royal Canadian Air Force at the close of the season, Jack was out of hockey until last season. Returning he played soundly, developing his rushing to a new high. He was selected on several All-Star selections.

Unmarried, Jack is a wheat farmer in the summer. One of the most popular of the Wings he is quiet, dark, and seldom ruffled on or off the ice.

WILLIAM JAMES TAYLOR - Center.

Born - Winnipeg, Manitoba. May 3, 1919. Height 5'8". Weight 161 lbs.

New in a Detroit uniform but old in the records of the National League is center Billy Taylor, Bill came to the Red Wings from Toronto in a straight deal for Harry Watson early in October and is expected to center the number one Detroit line, and to afford the club balance down the middle which was lacking last season.

Taylor is a sportsman throughout the year, owning a race horse and being a steady follower of the turf during the summer months. He is one of the most popular hockey players in the game among his opponents and teammates alike, because of his clean play and his generosity in passing the puck.

Barring two years in service Taylor has been in the pro ranks constantly since 1939. Signed with Toronto he was farmed out to Pittsburgh but recalled to the Maple Leafs early in the year.

In four and a half seasons with the Leafs Taylor established himself as one of the top playmakers in the N.H.L., having registered 184 points. Last season, his first in three in professional hockey, saw him shoot his all time high goal total of 23. He finished tenth in the National League point-scoring race.

Bill makes his summer home in Oshawa, where he won fame as a junior. He is married and has two children.

Born - Winnipeg, Manitoba. November 2, 1922. Height 6'. Weight 185 lbs.

One of the bigger boys on the Red Wing defense this season is Doug Baldwin, who was secured from Toronto in September in trade for Gerald Brown. Baldwin returned from service last fall to make his professional hockey debut with the Maple Leafs.

When Toronto first visited Olympia Baldwin broke into the game in place of Babe Pratt, who was ill, and although the Red Wings won, Doug's steady, heady defensive play caught the attention of Jack Adams.

Baldwin was farmed out to Pittsburgh for training in mid-season, but entered the hospital for an appendectomy, and as a result saw little action. When the Wings had an opportunity to add him to their squad this fall they seized the chance, and although Baldwin was ten days late in reporting to camp he soon made his candidacy and qualifications for a major league berth evident.

Doug makes his summer home in Winnipeg. He is unmarried.

PATRICK ANTHONY LUNDY - Center.

Born - Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. May 31, 1924. Height 5'10½". Weight 175 lbs.

Lundy must be regarded as a recruit for the curly-haired Westerner has played only six professional games in his lifetime, although all of them were with the Detroit Red Wings.

Originally signed while playing junior hockey in Saskatoon, Pat entered the Canadian Navy before ever reporting to a training camp. He was discharged last March and joined the Wings in time to play the final four games of the regular season, scoring three goals and two assists in that time.

In the playoffs Lundy distinguished himself by scoring Detroit's first goal of the second game against Boston, a brilliant solo effort in which he completely fooled goalie Frank Brimsek. However Pat crashed into the right net post after completing his shot, suffering a shoulder injury which kept him out of the remaining games.

Fully recovered this fall Pat showed the same skill which characterized his brief appearance and had little difficulty in winning a Red Wing berth.

He makes his summer home in Saskatoon and is unmarried.

Born - Brockville, Ontario. April 24, 1922. Height 5'11½". Weight 200 lbs.

The only member of the current Wing squad without previous professional experience is Simon. Thain is the younger brother of Cullen Simon, Red Wing defense star of several seasons ago.

Thain first attracted attention as a junior, when he teamed on defense with Bill Quackenbush at Brantford, where Tommy Ivan, then a Red Wing scout, was coaching. A husky lad at 19 Simon was rated as Quack's equal as a rear guard, but instead of reporting to the Detroit training camp in 1942 he entered the Royal Canadian Air Force. Thain was stationed at Ottawa for basic training, and had the opportunity of playing defense on the strong R. C. A. F. team which monopolized senior amateur hockey championships that season.

Late in 1942 he flew to India where he remained throughout the war. He thus had less opportunity to skate and condition himself than any man on the squad, but when he reported to Olympia this fall, realizing that this shortcoming might work against him, asked to be assigned to two practice sessions daily in order to get into shape more quickly. His place on the Detroit squad testifies to the efficacy of his enterprise.

Simon is married and makes his off-season home in Pembroke, Ontario.

STEFAN WOCHY - Right Wing.

Born - Fort William, Ontario. December 25, 1922. Height 5'7". Weight 155 lbs.

Shifty skating Steve is back for his second appearance in the National League after a year of minor loop seasoning which saw him play with both Detroit farm clubs at Indianapolis and Omaha last season.

He turned professional in the fall of 1944 and won a regular Red Wing berth where he established himself as the highest scoring freshman in the club's history, registering 19 goals and 20 assists.

Last fall Steve appeared to have lost some of his scoring magic however, and he was placed with Indianapolis to gain further experience. He suffered a broken wrist in early December which kept him out of the lineup until February when he was moved to Omaha to work himself into shape.

In the off-season Steve returns to Fort William, where he is employed by a grain elevator. He was married last December to a sister of a former Olympia secretary.
